THE BRIDGE RIVER COUNTRY.

By all appearances the Bridge River country is likely to afford that great desideratum in British Columbia a good shallow diggings suitable for white men at a reasonable distance from sources of supply. The accounts given some few months back, together with those recently received in town, and that furnished by our Lillooet correspondent, all combine to show that there is evidently a pretty extensive deposit of gold along nearly the whole of the above stream. Parties have been up it some one hundred and fifty miles, and report a very superior kind of country. The river itself widens out into lakes in the interior, affording an admirable field for internal navigation. The climate seems to be genial, and the country favorable to vigorous animal life, judging from the abundance of every kind of game that is found there. The proximity of the river to Lillooet will enable provisions, tools, and miners equipment to be obtained at such reasonable rates as will enable men to save the greater part of their earnings. Should it turn out as is anticipated, that an extensive field of diggings paying eight to ten dollars a day exists in that district of country, men who are unsuccessful at Cariboo will have an admirable ground to fall back upon, while at the same time there will be a good opportunity of settling up a very eligible portion of the Cascade country. In the event of such being the case, there would no doubt be a line of communication opened in the direction of the Bute Inlet trail, as the head-waters of Bridge River cannot be removed from that route any very great distance. As soon too as the gold diggings become exhausted there would be another field for labor and the investment of capital in prospecting and working the various metallic mineral veins in which the Cascades undoubtedly abound. Of copper especially there are some exceedingly rich deposits, judging from some specimens we have seen taken from Bridge River by late prospectors. The people of Lillooet with considerable enterprise are making active efforts to have the country thoroughly tested by competent prospecting parties. It is to be hoped that their endeavors will be crowned with the success they deserve.

BRITISH COLUMBIAN PRIZE ES-SAY.

The Prize Essay on British Columbia written by the Rev. Mr. Brown of Lillooet, has just made its appearance before the public from the Royal Engineer's Press, in the shape of a neat little pamphlet of some ninety-eight pages. Although as a matter of course, most of the facts and matters treated upon are pretty well known to people who have lived in the colony for any length of time, yet to others, and more particularly to strangers, the volume is a most useful compendium of information respecting a country as yet not very extensively known. The topics comprising the essay are embraced under the heads of Historical Introduction, which we may say is rather meagre even for an essay; General Description of the country. This far as it goes, will give one a very good idea of the territory gone over. There have been so many contradictory stories told of the appearance of British Columbia that we have been really in want of something that would serve to reconcile such apparently innumerable and gross discrepancies. That want we think will be met by this section of this work, and the following ones on the Physical Geography and Meteorology of the colony, and we may add those treating of the Mineral resources and Agriculture. Under the latter head, our author says, "the country round about the lower Fraser is not by any means the locality where farming can at present be most successfully undertaken. Yet even here there are many broad acres of excellent land. Behind the belts of forest there are open spaces where grass grows luxuriantly. As already remarked, some of these lands require draining; they invite the investment of the capitalist, with a sure prospect of a rich return, whether laid down on hay or cereals." * * * But to reach the best land we must penetrate into the interior. They will be found scattered up and down throughout the vast area beyond the Cascade Range. Most of the country is occupied by arid mountain chains, rolling hills or high grassy table lands. Between the mountains we find fertile and well-watered valleys. The Okanagan and adjoining districts possess an extent of land capable of supporting 10,000 souls (allowing 160 acres for 9 persons.) Above this, lies the country around Shuswap Lake, which is described as containing an extensive area of arable land. The district around Kamloops Lake and North River is described as extending eighty miles from south to north, and one hundred miles from east to west; a pastoral country of high table-land, with abundant pasture free from forests, and only interspersed with timber. Adjacent lies the land around Nicola Lake, the headquarters of the Indian tribe, a district little known but said to possess great agricultural capabilities. The basin of the Thompson River has good pasture, and its tributary, the Bonaparte, excellent arable land. The country through which the wagon road passes to Williams Lake must ultimately become a valuable agricultural district." * * * The following remarks as to the different kinds of soil found in British Columbia are not without their interest: "The soil is of three kinds—first, black, rich, and loamy, consisting of decayed vegetable matter and alluvial deposit. This is the character of the soil by the banks of streams and lakes, and in the bottoms of valleys, and wherever land has been formed of deposits brought down by the streams from the mountains. The second kind of soil (which characterizes the basin of the Fraser) is lighter and more sandy, being formed by the disintegration and decomposition of rocks (a process that may be seen any rainy day,) it contains a great deal of lime—the mountains being frequently of limestone—and to this fact, together with the strong sun, is probably to be ascribed its fertility notwithstanding its lightness. It is found to a depth varying from one to three feet, with a sub-soil of gravel and sometimes of clay. The third description of soil is neither so good as the first nor as light as the second—it rather resembles ordinary land in the mother country; such is for instance the soil around Williams Lake on the Brigade Trail. Compared with the area of the country so far as it is yet explored, the quantity of good land is small. It is indeed chiefly to be found in valleys of greater or less breadth bounded by hills. Still these valleys are so numerous that the quantity of land available for agriculture is likely to afford that great desideratum in British Columbia a good shallow diggings suitable for white men at a reasonable distance from sources of supply. The accounts given some few months back, together with those recently received in town, and that furnished by our Lillooet correspondent, all combine to show that there is evidently a pretty extensive deposit of gold along nearly the whole of the above stream. EXHIBITION OF THE GUNPOWDER PLATE.—The case of Canyon vs. Costello, for wages, again came up for hearing yesterday in the Police Court. Mr. Danne was the plaintiff and Mr. Bishop for the defendant. The plaintiff was placed in the witness-box, and was subject to a long cross-examination by Mr. Bishop. From the evidence it appeared that the complainant and another man were engaged on Monday morning by defendant to convey some kegs of gunpowder from the bark Phillipine to the magazine at Esquimalt, and started in a boat at about 7 o'clock in the evening. They used every exertion to get to Esquimalt, and were pulling all night, but were carried away by the tide, and at daylight found themselves past an island where ballast is obtained, near Clever Point. The craft likewise sprang a leak in the topsides, and made so much water that they had to use their shoes and shirts in order to bale her out. On Tuesday the defendant came on board, and, after using threatening language and kicking the complainant, he remained on board and directed the boat to Esquimalt. It took them from about five o'clock in the afternoon to about midnight to reach Esquimalt. They had worked hard all the time, and had no opportunity of sleeping. They had been in communication or arrangement with anyone on shore about taking any of the cargo, nor had it entered their heads to carry it across the Sound. A man named Jones was called; he had been engaged by the complainant to accompany him. They neither of them knew the coast, and had not been accustomed to the management of small boats. The two men had made several attempts to anchor, but could not find bottom. They took it in turns to pull and bale out the water, and had nothing to eat all the time. Witness on Tuesday morning jumped into the water and got ashore for something to eat. Captain Gardner, pilot, said he had been a plunger carrying about three tons. It was ebb tide on Monday last from six o'clock to midnight, and two men might have sculled the boat to Esquimalt in three hours. It was a fine moonlight night, and had it been flood tide the two men could have pulled her in there in four hours. The men would be well paid with ten dollars. Thomas Pratt took a lighter of ten or twelve tons to Esquimalt on Monday night. It took them five hours to get there with four oars. They delivered one hundred kegs, and each man received $40 for the job. He believed one man could have earned $100 per day that night. The defendant was called off from his version of the story that the complainant and his son had been guilty of culpable neglect, in consequence of which he had been made to incur an additional expense of $20. Mr. Pemberton said it was apparent that the defendant had taken the law into his own hands by illtreating the complainant, and subsequently compelling the man to proceed to Esquimalt. The men may not have been competent, but Jones had given his evidence fairly, and it was evident that he at all events had done his best. There had been an accusation of foul play thrown out, but nothing had been proved. The complainants were certainly not entitled to the full amount claimed, but he would postpone the case for one day, and in the mean time the parties might agree upon a payment.

LAND SALE.—There was a large attendance of buyers at Mr. A. F. Main's sale of Real Estate yesterday, and although the bidding was occasionally slow still most of the lots realized good prices as the following show: Lot No. 49, on Alfred street, $150; Town lot No. 320, James' Bay, $530; Town lot No. 783, on View street, $530; Town lot No. 1050, on Johnson street, $100; Town lot No. 1045, on Johnson street, $500; Town lot No. 1049, on Montreal street, $470; Town lot No. 1249, corner lot, $250; and 15, adjoining lot 1247, $1,514.50. Land, timber, stone, building, Government street, $6,500; Town lot No. 1193, on Marine street, $1,500; Water lot, between the bridge on Esquimalt road, $1,400; Town lot No. 720, corner lot, $1150; Town lot No. 723, corner lot, $1100; Town lot No. 1793, $590; Town lot No. 1795, James' Bay, $570; Block C, lot 1 A, 66 by 137 feet, $900; Block C, lot 18 A, 66 by 127 feet, $220; Block C, lots 1, 2, and 3, 66 by 127 feet, $125 each; the lease of town lot No. 281, corner Fort and Blanchard streets, together with the buildings on the lot $100; one acre on Esquimalt Harbor, $175.

PLEASED AT LAST.—We were beginning to imagine that our Fraser river contemporary was impossible to please, but we rejoice to find the following refreshing bit on the subject of the Duke of Newcastle's despatch, in its last issue: "The Duke's allusion to the union of these colonies fully corroborates the statement contained in the first letter received from our delegate after he had an interview, viz., that he found the Duke strongly imbued with the idea of separating the colonies directly induced His Grace to decide upon separate governments. It is evident the Duke gave way upon this important point contrary to his own convictions, and that no union can now take place without the co-operation of the respective Legislatures of the two Colonies. Be this as it may, we feel disposed to receive the act with unmingled satisfaction."

ARMED THIEF.—James Williams appeared yesterday in the Police Court to answer a charge of stealing a saw from a man named Austin. The prosecutor said he wished to withdraw the case, as he believed the accused was drunk and did not know what he was doing, and he thought he had already been sufficiently punished. Mr. Bishop, who appeared for the prisoner, said he believed the whole affair was a mistake, but he had witnessed a call if necessary. The court said the thief should not have given his name to steal. The magistrate told prosecutor he should not have given the man in charge and injured his character, unless he was prepared to prosecute the case. The accused was discharged.

PLoughing and Sowing Match.—These matches will be held in the fields near Judge Pemberton's residence on Tuesday, 29th inst., at 9 a.m. The lists will be opened at Mr. Cochrane's office, Government street, until the 23rd September. For further particulars, see advertisement.

ORTHRAY.—By desire of Mr. Robert H. Smith, of Little Lake House, British Columbia, we insert in its proper place a notice of the decease of Donald Munro, of Inverness, the unfortunate man, whose death from starvation, at Bear River, we recorded some days ago.

CHARITABLE APPEAL.—We are informed that an application has been made to the St. Andrew's Society on behalf of Mr. Templeton—whose case is one requiring immediate attention—but the funds of the Society have of late been so liberally bestowed on objects of a like charitable nature, that the Board of Managers have in this instance been unable to respond to the call made upon its bounty. It is therefore intended by some of Mr. Templeton's friends to open a public subscription for his benefit; and it is to be hoped that our citizens generally will contribute freely to an appeal having such a laudable purpose in view.

SAANICH.—The schooner Discovery arrived yesterday from San Juan with a cargo of dry wood for Kavanagh and Co.

LATER FROM CARIBOO AND BRITISH COLUMBIA.

Letter from Lillooet.

[FROM OUR REGULAR CORRESPONDENT.]

LILLOOET, September 4th, 1863.

THE MURDERER OF CLEGG.

The murderers of Mr. Thomas Clegg are still at large; they have had some narrow escapes from capture during the last week. A shirt was found belonging to one of them with blood on it, and the missing canteen with valuable papers near a swamp in the vicinity of the outrage. Mr. E. T. Dodge, the postman who found it $100 each, this gave them encouragement, and they sought the woods in search of it. They were first seen at a prospector's camp, about 75 miles distant, when they, in the absence of the little boy, stole some bread and made off again to the woods on approach of a stranger. They were tracked again making for the Bonaparte; McLean's people were posted and awaited them in ambush, by some unlucky accident one man of McLean's party showed himself too soon, and the Indians ran, shot were fired and one man dropped, this was in the evening. No further trace was found of them for a day or two after, when they found the place the wounded one had lain, in an orchard, marks of blood testifying no mosquito bite either. This is thought to be the true account, or the boy is still at large.

Mr. David although bringing advices from Williams Creek to the 1st inst., was not the bearer of any mining news. He had heard of new strikes and was not cognizant of what had taken place with reference to quartz discoveries. On the whole his impression of Cariboo is somewhat a gloomy one. He describes the general feeling to be that although the wealth of that region is undeniable, the great expense attending the successful working of claims renders it at present only accessible to the few:

Mr. David heard several flying reports of the capture of Clegg's murderers, but they appeared to have no foundation.

The steamer Enterprise, which arrived at 6 p.m., brought an additional sum of $150,000, $65,000 of which belonged to the Bank of British Columbia, and formed a portion of the treasure brought down by the Escort.

FROM THE BRITISH COLUMBIAN.—The steamer Hope arrived from Douglas yesterday, bringing a number of merchants and miners with about $100,000 in treasure. What a commentary is this on the Escort! Dietz & Nelson's Express also arrived with $80,000, making in all $200,000 within two days. There is no news of interest from the diggings, where a feeling of depression exists at present.

BRIDGE RIVER DISCOVERIES.—POOR MAN'S DIGGINGS.—Some Austrians who have been mining on Bridge river, near here, sold $500 worth of gold from their prospecting tour up the North Fork. The report gold in the gravel which they brought down is not true. The gold they brought down I have seen; it is the same in character as that formerly found in Bridge river, but heavier, sealy pieces. The sample of copper, also panned out, I enclose for your cabinet specimens. The country is more open than any part of Cariboo, abounds in cedar and pitch pine trees of the largest growth. It can also boast of an immense amount of wild animals, among which may be enumerated three kinds of bears, flocks of deer, geese, ducks, rabbits, etc., which, from report, seem to have flocked in from the interior of the west. Now, if you see this 're business is going to cost a hull quarter of a dollar a piece, and I can't afford to spend so much for nothing.' Now, if you'll say you'll have me, darned if I don't pay the hull out myself—I will!"—Sally made a non-committal reply, which Ichabod interpreted to suit himself, and he struck up two steps at a time, and paid the whole out.

TREASURE GEMS IN AMERICA.—"Sally said a green youth, in a white hat and gray pants, through which his legs projected half a foot."—Sally, before we go into this 're exhibition, I want to ask you somethin'?"—Well, Ichabod, what is it?"—"Why, you see this 're business is going to cost a hull quarter of a dollar a piece, and I can't afford to spend so much for nothing.' Now, if you'll say you'll have me, darned if I don't pay the hull out myself—I will!"—Sally made a non-committal reply, which Ichabod interpreted to suit himself, and he struck up two steps at a time, and paid the whole out.

SOUTHERN RECOGNITION BY FRANCE.—We hear to-day, and from sources usually to be trusted, of preparations made by the War Minister—for Poland, you ask? No; with a view to the recognition of the South. Is it possible that the French are really going to establish "diggings" after all? I almost hesitate to send this report, though I am told I may do so with safety.—Paris cor. London Telegraph, July 16.

DRUGGISTS.—Yesterday morning, we understand Captain Gardner boarded the Bark Ocean Bird, near Royal Roads, and offered his services as Pilot to Captain Gove, who declined them. The Ocean Bird, on subsequently entering the harbor, as might be expected, got aground, and had it been cubed instead of flood-tide her position would have been one of risk and danger. The masters of vessels may consider that they are doing their duty to their owners by saving the expenditure of every possible dollar, but, nevertheless, this is not before happened, and which are almost daily occurring, clearly demonstrate the necessity for immediately placing our Pilots laws and regulations on a more wholesome and satisfactory footing. Ships making Esquimalt or Victoria Harbor should be accommodated with a Pilot as soon as signalled for, and shippers, importers, or insurers of goods should not be subjected to the serious losses which must frequently accrue from the parsimonious practices of masters of ships refusing the services of a Licensed Pilot when once offered, and attempting to navigate their own ships into port.

GRAND PIC-NIC.—It will be seen, by a notice in our advertising columns, that a Picnic upon a large scale, under the auspices of the Independent Order of Good Templars, will take place at Oak Grove, adjoining Mr. Tod's farm, on Wednesday next, the 16th inst. Coaches will leave the Anglo-American Hotel between the hours of 8 and 11 a.m., and will be in readiness to return at 3 p.m. An excellent Band will be in attendance. Addresses will be delivered. An elegant and substantial dinner with tea and coffee will be served on tables with seats. Numerous sports and amusements will be provided, and no extravagance spared to make this the Picnic of the Season! Single Tickets, $3; double, for gentleman and lady, $5. Children under 12 years of age, $1. It is intended to devote any surplus which may remain, after payment of expenses, towards a fund for the erection of a Hall for the above-named Order.

KANGAROO.—The Embargo and Its Results.

EDITOR BRITISH COLONIST.—Sir—It seems to me incumbent on the community to consider how the evil with which the United States government has recently visited the coastwise trade of our colonies, and especially of the Pacific coast, may affect us.

THE EXTERMINATED BEGM. MOLE.—Respectfully to inform his customers that all business will be closed on the 31st day of August, and resume again on the 1st day of September, the proprietor, wishing to retire from the business, offers for sale, and will lease the premises at a moderate rent.

GOOD NEWS FOR EVERY ONE.

KNOWLEDGE IS POWER.—In favor of one's health, knowledge is of the law, for its preservation is essential. If sea is ill, and have sought in vain for renewal hitherto, what is the reason? Simply this, a want of information on the subject. The civilization of the world is based on the knowledge of the preservation and restoration of health indispensably necessary; and the only question is, whence is the required help to be obtained? Undoubtedly Kayne's Worsdell's Vegetable Restorative Pills.

For the last thirty years the truth has been gained ground that to purify the blood is the simple secret of health; and the most distinguishing feature of these celebrated pills, is that they speedily eradicate all disease from the body, by purifying the blood, giving health in once and all, and affording a grand constitutional and complete freedom from pain and disease.

The pamphlet enclosed with each box of the pills gives many interesting particulars of many cases of disease, and contains full instructions for the use of the medicine.

THE BRITISH COLONIST. PRINTED and published by Amos DeCosmo, Government Street, Victoria, V.I.

Thursday morning, September 10, 1863.

HEADACHE, BILLY, LOSS OF APPETITE, AND LOWNESS OF SPIRITS.

These pills require no interruption of business or pleasure; they act gently, yet powerfully, on the stomach, and promote a healthy action of the liver, whereby they purify the blood, cleanse the system, and remove all the morbid matter. They effect a truly wonderful change in delirious constitutions, as they create a healthy appetite correct the taste, and give the giddiness and palpitation of the heart.

WEAKNESS AND DEBILITY.

of debility, languor, and nervousness, especially in old age, and the effect of these pills is in the highest degree beneficial, renovating and restorative. They drive away the languor, and restore the spirits, establish the digestion, regulate all the excretions, brad the nervous system, raise the patient's spirits, and increase the appetite, while they secure perfect digestion to all ordinary food, and release the mind from restraint and vexation.

WORD TO FEMALES.

There are two periods, especially in Woman's life, which require a strict passage, judgment and action. The first is during pregnancy, the second is after delivery, to take place, and to lay the foundation of future disease. These pills are in action, and effective in removing all the evil symptoms of both these periods, and will be marvellous both to the young and the middle aged. They prevent nervousness, hysterics, dropsy, &c., &c., &c. and all impurities from the system, therefore none should ever be without them.

BLOOD TO THE HEAD—DISEASES OF THE HEART.

More persons die suddenly from diseases of the heart than the unlearned suppose: in such cases there is a tendency to bleed to the head. These pills purify the blood in an extraordinary manner, and will cure it for a fair share of public patronage.
